Welcome

Welcome to the second online open house for the Edmonds Civic Center Playfield Master Plan. Here you can learn about the project and provide your input on the future of the park. In response to input from the community, two alternative plans have been produced to generate more feedback and discussion. The final plan will likely be a hybrid of the alternative plans and will be presented at the October 12th open house.

This online open house is available through Friday, September 9, 2016.

How to use this online open house:

Visit the tabbed "stations" to learn about the park, the two proposed design options and provide feedback. Keep an eye out for survey questions and submit your answers. Please share this site with others who may be interested in this project.
